

ABOUT

Kids Corner – Activity Center

In this section, we provide access to a number of activities that help kids learn about the Environment in which we all live and are an important part.

Kids learn mainly by Playing and Exploring. These activities are designed to get young learners involved by engaging in play and exploration activities.

Activities presented are generally of two categories: Those that are best suited for indoor learning environments, and those best suited for outdoor environments.

Many activities presented in this section are free of charge and made available for use by donations or grants.

The Activity Center

Indoor Activities – Activities presented in this department are best suited for engaging and conducting Indoors. These are great for rainy days, or when outdoor activities are not convenient or desired. These activities may range from simple Coloring Pages, Games, crafts, etc. to more involved Terrarium, Ant Farms, or even Seed Growing Experiments.

Outdoor Activities - Activities presented in this department are best suited for engaging and conducting Outdoors. These are great for sunny, mild days when it's best for kids to get outside and play/explore. These activities may range from simple play in your backyard to Hiking, Camping, Fishing, etc. Any outdoor activity that encourages children to explore and engage with nature.

Monetization Note

Note: Some of the “Goods” and “Services” offered are sold and shipped by affiliate vendors and independent contractors. Purchases are subject to the payment and return/refund policies of the specific vendor or contractor.

Let us know

If you, the reader/user notice what you believe to be errors, please contact us and let us know. Likewise, if you have any suggestions, comments, or compliments, please feel free to let us know. Simply drop us a note using our “Contact” form.

Thank you.

Sincerely

Ron P